

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a clear example of the dangers of media consolidation.

It is a known fact that the media is a main influencer of public opinion. What happens when the media censors information (ie only showing one side and suppressing the other) this is unamerican and bad for the people.

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard. Thank you. I believe there should be greater limitation set on media ownership with regards to monopoly busting.
